

● Perverted Cinema London

To tie in with the release of his not-as-racy-as-it-sounds The Pervert's Guide To Cinema (pictured), Slovenian philosopher and psychoanalyst Slavoj Žižek curates a season of some of the films he discusses, as well as arriving for two personal appearances. For Žižek, watching a film is a more involving experience than just something to do while chewing popcorn. His insightful, unpretentious three-part film looks at a variety of well-known movies and looks for the ways in which entertainment can involve and even reflect the viewer. Some of the subtext-rich works Žižek addresses, such as Solaris, Blue

Velvet, The Matrix, Alien and Psycho (for which Žižek will provide live commentary) are also screening. Prepare to be surprised. PO'N
